

America is a country establish on a premise of freedom. I do not need the government to make choices for me. If large radio and television owners cannot provide the quality of service that I receive with XM Radio then they will not succeed. Our country is strong, and because of that over 200 years later we are still a country. The best rise to the top. If the large radio and television owners can?t keep up, then they must choose to improve or fail.
